SINCE my business is ADVERTISING, I am taking my own medicine by advertising myself.
I do not intend to boast about myself, but I do want to tell you what I think I can do.
There are many clever men in the field. I know I have the keenest competition to meet but that will not prevent me from getting my share of the business.
I feel so sure of being able to help some business men to do a greater business by adopting the style of advertising I believe in, that I will be willing to take a modest fee, as I am certain you would not like, in fairness to me, that I should render this service absolutely free of charge.

NOTICE.

THE attention of this association has been drawn to the fact that sugar merchants used to accept invoices for an indefinite period and as this created a great deal of confusion and was highly prejudicial to sugar merchants at large, a meeting of this association was held on the 2nd instant when it was resolved that no merchant shall hereafter accept invoices after seven days from the commencement of the landing in the docks of the goods invoiced. After that period, however, the seller can send in the invoice, but only for three days including holidays and closed days, but he shall be in that case responsible for the extra fees and slackage or shortage in weight and for all other expenses and charges caused by reason of the delay and shall have to endorse on the invoice a memo acknowledging such liability before tendering the invoice to the buyer, as otherwise the buyer will not be bound to accept the invoice. In no case shall any invoice be tendered by the seller or accepted by the buyer after ten days as aforesaid.

HEALTHY HAIR HINTS.

The idea that baldness is a sign of intellectuality is fast being exploded.

The hair is not pushed out of the head by the great knowledge inside.

In fact many learned men use Kaminia Oil to prevent their hair from coming out.

They are succeeding with it, too.

So are many in all stages of intellectuality.

Available everywhere but it must be Kaminia Oil.

STANDARD BAROMETER READING.

The following information is published in order that vessels in the Bombay Harbour may by comparison with a standard instrument ascertain the errors of their barometers:—

The reading of the Standard Barometer in the Colaba Observatory corrected for index error and reduced to 80 deg. F. and to the level of the tide, at 8-45 a.m., Standard Time, on the 12th October 1916 was 30.099 inches For temperature corrections applicable to mercurial barometer of ships the reading of the ship's barometer has to be increased or decrease by .021 inch for every 5 degrees according as the temperature of the attached thermometer is respectively below or above 80 deg. F. In case of the aneroid no temperature correction is needed. But for comparison at 80 deg. F. all aneroid readings should be increased by .128 inch. For correcting the ship's barometer either mercurial or aneroid for the height of the barometer cistern above the tide level in the stream at 8-45 a.m. Standard Time, the ship's barometer reading should be increased by .010 inch for every 10 feet of the height to make it comparable with the observatory barometer reading given.

"A PINE FOREST IN EVERY HOME."

The Novel & Unequalled Remedy for COUGHS, COLDS & BRONCHITIS.

WITH the "cold weather" come coughs and colds, the revival of the old bronchitis, and the consequent need for Peps, the unique breathe-able tablets that are most reliable in curing and staving off throat and chest troubles.

The Peps way is to introduce with the breath direct into the lungs an air-like medicine that disinfects the throat and destroys the germs which are the cause of coughs, colds, chill, sore throat, bronchitis and kindred ailments.

This novel Peps medicine, derived from the healing balsams of the Pine Forest, is compressed into handy tablet form, and each concentrated tablet is carefully preserved in a silver wrapper until required. Divested of its wrapper and placed in the mouth, the Peps tablet slowly dissolves, and during that process the powerful medicine vaporizes and penetrates with the breath through all the air-passages.

Thus soreness in the chest is removed, the delicate membrane that lines all the breathing tubes from the back of the mouth to the lungs is made germ-proof, phlegm is loosened from the bronchials, and the cause of coughing removed. At the same time the vulnerable parts in the throat and chest are efficiently protected against germ-infection and the perils that come with any sudden change in the weather.

Form the habit, therefore, not only of keeping a bottle of Peps ready for use at home, but of always carrying a few Peps tablets in the pocket or purse. That is the surest way to stop a cold and ward off any attack on the throat and chest.

Peps represent the curative properties of "A Pine Forest in Every Home," and are unequalled for coughs, colds, sore throat, bronchitis, asthma, laryngitis, clergyman's throat, officer's throat, night chills, wheeziness, influenza cough, and children's chest troubles.

Peps are sold only in sealed bottles and every tablet is separately wrapped in silver paper. Only price, Rs.1 per bottle, of all chemists and medicine vendors, or The Peps Co., 9, Dalhousie Sq., Calcutta; Kemp & Co., Bombay; E. Brookes & Co., Karachi; E.M. de Souza, Rangoon; or The Colombo Apothecaries Co., Colombo, at Rs.1.

THE BOMBAY CHRONICLE.

THE FUTURE OF SILVER.

Gradually unseated from the position it had enjoyed in the monetary world, from historic times, by the colossal gold productions of the last half of the nineteenth century, silver, as is well-known, had reached its very nadir of prices by 1890. The first effectual dethronement of the metal began in 1873, owing to its demonetisation for currency by Germany. But the full consequences of that operation were seen when the Indian Mints barred their doors in 1893 against the private coinage of the metal, followed by the American silver legislatured a year or two later in order to check the oversupply which was a regular "drug in the market." As the production of the yellow metal increased, and as other countries of the West established their respective gold currency, the downgrade of the cheaper metal was throughly accomplished. The price had so far declined that it was only 22.73 pence, per standard ounce, in January of last year! This signified that silver was doomed, and that it must soon cease to rank as one of the precious metals. But the financial exigencies of the war have been such that a tide has come over the fortunes of the discarded metal. At the commencement of the current year, the sore need of the belligerents, Great Britain included, was such that its price rose to 26 11/16 on 3rd January. From that date forward there has been noticeable considerable activity among sellers and buyers, which still continues with occasional periods of lull. Of course, it goes without saying that this rise in the price of silver is entirely owing to the demands of the warring nations for immense quantities of silver coins to meet the necessities of the millions of troops engaged in the different theatres of war and of the supplies of the armies. Thus th whirligig of time wrought such a quick mounting up of the price of the white metal that by the beginning of May it rose to 37 1/8 pence! It receded afterwards, but at present it is quoted in the near neighbourhood of 36 pence. Dealers inform us that it was in March, 1893, that the price recorded in London was 37 9/16 pence! So that it is after a long spell of 23 years that almost the same price is now prevailing.

Till late the only buyers were India, China and the East. Whatever surplus there remained, after satisfying the requirements of these, countries, went to the silver arts manufacturers. Thus, temporarily, the war conditions have rehabilitated silver. Inconvertible notes, issued in enormous quantities by the Continental States at war have no charm for the unsophisticated soldier and the agriculturists. England is the only country where every emergency note is backed by gold. France, which, in legal fiction must still be considered a bimetallic country, had accumulated in her State bank since 1860, millions of silver in bullion and coin. She seems to have fully exhausted this large store. Even after unloading that colossal quantity, she has had to buy silver like other Continental belligerents. Germany has had to coin more and more thalers. And so, too, have Austria, Russia, and Italy, to increase their metallic coins in silver. Thus it is, that whenever Europe wants more silver, it has to buy from India and China, and from the Mexican mines. The last have been for some time past unreliable owing to disturbances and revolution. But wherever the silver stores may be, London is the city which regulates their price. It is the ultimate market for the disposal of the worlds' supplies of silver. It is to London alone that the Indian and Chinese buyers and sellers alike look for the price from day to day. The producers exported the bulk of the twenty-one million ounces of the season of 1914, to that great Babylon of modern times. Who buys this surplus which gravitates to London? Four powerful monopolist firms control the entire silver market. Their method and manner of operating, according to their interests, has of late been the subject of much comment in monetary circles, but it is not relevant to dwell on this branch of the subject. As already stated, owing to Mexican political troubles and the diminution of the visible stocks of supply in India and China, which have been for hundred of years "The Sink of Silver," the market began to show great activity mounting up the prices of the metal. It is on record that England coined as much as 7.81 millions of silver in 1915, while her annual average coinage during the last ten years was about a million! Stocks had so far diminished that the obsolete coins of the Phillipines had to be indented on, and, it is said, that, that island has had a capital windfall by reason of the sale of such to England through the Indian Government. It also happened that the different Governments or their agents, all came as buyers to the market at the same moment. That was a godsend for the sellers, be they the mine owners or the great intermediary monopolists. These are the factors which led to the great rise which eventually culminated in May last, to over 37 pence. The different Governments, specially the Allies, woke to the fact that this upward rise would in no way tend to their advantage. They accordingly determined to act in concert and tried to devise a method whereby they could obtain their respective supplies while effectually checking speculation and further rise. They have so far succeeded that the bullish operations which were so actively in vogue between January and May have been considerably checkmated. At the same time, judging from the maintenance of the price, it does not seem that there is any tendency to weakness in the silver market. Mine owners in America are shrewd enough and know that the belligerents will need more and more of silver till at least the close of the war which no one can yet forecast. This fact has greatly stimulated the activity of American mine-owners who are determined to make hay while the sun shines.

The question for economists in currency is, whether there is any reasonable certainty of a permanence of present prices of silver, say, within the neighbourhood of 40 pence an ounce, the maximum which is keenly looked forward to? Will the gold-using European countries continue to buy more of silver after the war, if so, how far may silver be rehabilitated? How far may it reach a parity with gold! The old bimettalic rate, which lasted from the middle of the fifteenth century till 1893, was almost 15½ to 1. Is it likely that that ratio will come into operation once more? Will the gold production of the world, which before the date of the war, was recorded at 100 millions sterling, continue? Or will it be the case, as the discovery of gold mines since the fifties of the nineteenth century have conclusively shown, that the yields will diminish? If, on the one hand, the yield is steadily less, and, on the other, there is a greater scramble for the yellow metal after the war, how are the European countries, especially the latest to adopt a gold currency, going to carry on their currency operations? In what way are they going to work off their inconvertible notes? Will they resume specie payments? If they do, how will the resumption he practically carried out? Will it be all in gold or in gold and silver? Opinions, of course, differ. There are those who seem to think the European countries will go back to gold and never reinstate silver in their currency. Silver, they say, is liable to great fluctuations. That contingency will forbid Europe from going back to silver. There is, on the other hand, the school which is of opinion, that, say what you will, the enormous committals of the great Continental states are such, their debts so colossal, their power to raise the ordinary revenue in normal times so crippled, inspite of heavy taxation, that it will be a virtue of necessity for them to reinstate silver, even assuming that the gold production remains the same at it was before the war, albeit that all past experience militates against such an assumption. All these are speculations. He would be a bold prophet who would forecast the economic and financial problems which the close of the war may usher in its train. Until there is a satisfactory solution of those, which may take at the very least ten years, it is on the cards that silver will be in great demand. It remains to be seen whether there will be a chance for the rehabilitation of bimetallism on a revised and sound basis, whereby all the elements which contributed so violently to fluctuate exchange since 1890, might be effectually avoided. All that can be fairly and reasonably predicted at present is that for some years to come silver prices will be more or less maintained in the vicinity of 35 to 40 pence.

Notes of the Day.

Sticklers for Courtesy.

The statement of the Secretary of the Liverpool Steamship Owners' Association regarding the British losses by submarining during the whole of the war,—10s. for every £100 sterling,—is a graphic revelation, if one were needed, of the failure of this form of "frightfulness" to achieve its object, which was, it is well to remember, to maintain a food blockade of the United Kingdom and to starve out its population and generally to paralyse British shipping. The transference of the campaign to the other side of the Atlantic, where it is likely to be even less effective and shorter-lived, is a confession of this failure. It is the submarine campaign and not British shipping that has been practically paralysed in Home waters and there is little doubt that if the British Navy gets a free hand on the other side of the Atlantic the German submarines will find it as difficult to carry on their nefarious work there as in the North Sea or the Irish Channel. In this connection it is an interesting revelation that British patrol vessels had been withdrawn from the trade lanes adjacent to American waters in deference to American representations that such patrolling was "vexatious and discourteous." President Wilson, and also apparently the American Navy, are great sticklers for courtesy,—Dr. Wilson in his interviews with Count Bernstorff and the American Navy in their relations with the German pirates.

Constantine's Latest.

King Constantine, after summoning as a telegram tells us, all discredited political jobbers in the effort to find a Premier, has at last succeeded in finding one with little enough credit to carry out his behests in the person of Professor Lambros, who has formed a "colourless cabinet," though it is not clear how that expression applies to a cabinet which includes a pro-German politician as Minister of the Interior. King Constantine, it is added, has now postponed the question of intervention until he sees whether the Germans fulfil their promise to send reinforcements to the Macedonian Front on October 15th. Perhaps when that date arrives the question will have been settled over his head by M. Venizelos and his Provisional Government. Apparently M. Venizelos is prepared to throw his whole influence on the side of the Entente Powers. The only question is how far he will be able to carry the nation and the Army with him. According to one telegram the whole Navy has already declared itself on his side,—a matter of no little importance considering the important part which the Greek Navy, with its efficient force of destroyers would play if the Greek Army gives its aid to the Allies. We shall probably know during the next few days how far M. Venizelos is able to count on the adhesion of the Army.

"Do we want Greece.

In this connection it is of interest to note the views expressed by Mr. Crawford Price in an article which he contributes to "Truth" of September 20th. Mr. Crawford Price discusses the question which is often asked: Do we really want the aid of Greece in the war? He points out that when our recruiting authorities are insisting upon the urgent need for men it would be misleading to suggest that we can afford to refuse the assistance of 350,000 trained warriors, 150,000 of whom are already equipped for battle, to say nothing of a valuable artillery strong in mountain cannon so indispensable for Balkan warfare. He declares that in point of equipment the Hellenic Army has no equal for operations in the Macedonian theatre. General Sarrail, he says, has not yet touched the natural base for the Greek Army, nor has he shown any interest in its most attractive line of advance against Bulgaria. With the aid and protection of their destroyers and cruisers, manned by clever and courageous sailors who have been trained by one of Britain's most expert naval instructors, the Greeks are in a position to land their own forces and maintain their own communications and supplies without placing any strain upon the Allies' naval forces or the lines radiating from Salonika. The real hesitation on the part of the Allies, says Mr. Crawford Price, is political and concerns their alleged reluctance to give the guarantees and promises of territorial expansion for which the Greeks ask. But we imagine that is a question as to which M. Venizelos has fully satisfied himself as to the willingness of the Entente Powers to meet the legitimate claims of his country.

The "Blue-Book Quarterly."

We have more than once commented in these columns on the utility of that excellent publication of the local Government,—the "Blue-Book Quarterly." Its utility is now recognised and established. It is an humble educator for those who are desirous of knowing the broad details of the various branches of the provincial administration without having recourse to the Blue-books themselves which are the fountain source for other than the "general reader." As such it is admirably fulfilling its function and it would be interesting to be informed, when the third volume is reached, at the beginning of 1917, how far those, in whose behalf it has been specially published, have taken advantage of it, and how far the translation in Marathi has fulfilled its object. Meanwhile may we draw the attention of the Editor to the desirability of supplying in future some omissions which we detect. For instance, in the issue for the 3rd quarter, just published, there is a fair summary (p. 140) of the Resolution reviewing the reports on municipal taxation and expenditure in the Presidency and how for the year 1914-15. The summary, so far as it goes, is good: but the general reader looks in vain for the total revenue and expenditure of these municipalities, classified under their respective heads.

The Need for Facts.

Take the following sentence: "Although the income of the municipalities decreased by about Rs. 9 lakhs, and a fall in the receipts from Octroi, there was a large increase of 8 lakhs in the ordinary expenditure." The reader enquiries: But what may be the total of the income which diminished by 8 lakhs and what is the total of expenditure which increased by a like amount? The query comes naturally to the mind of a reader with ordinary intelligence. But it is just here that he finds the deficiency. It is deficiencies of this nature which should be supplied in future, not only in respect of municipal reports but all reports treating of revenue and expenditure. We are sure the utility of the Quarterly will be greatly enhanced by the adoption of the suggestion we have made. Facts are wanted, and nothing is so important for the education of the public as broad facts of finance concerning all the great administrative departments of the province.

Reduced Pay for wounds.

Here is a conundrum of the unfair working of Government rules in regard to the treatment of wounded officers in the matter of pay which it is impossible to answer. It is taken from "Truth":—

> While visiting a hospital not long ago I came across a wounded Captain of the Indian Army who had been sent home for treatment because there were no arrangements for treating him in Mesopotamia. He had been drawing about £40 a month before he was wounded. While lying on his back, suffering from his injuries, his pay was reduced to something less than £20. Had he surrendered to the enemy instead of "sticking it out" till he was knocked over he would have been drawing £30 a month instead of £20. How can the Government of India justify this anomaly? While an officer is under treatment for wounds he is not on furlough, but on duty, and he should be paid at the full rate till he either succumbs to his wounds, or recovers sufficiently to resume his place in the field.

America's War Trade Boom.

Some idea of the trade boom in the United States brought about by the war can be gathered from particulars published in the Home papers regarding the exports from the port of New York during the last week of August. This weekly return was compiled by the National City Bank of New York from official Custom House figures and shows that the total exports during the week ended August 26 amounted to 78 million dollars, this being more than twice as high as in the corresponding week of last year, and nearly eight times as high as in 1914. Over fifty million dollars' worth of these exports were taken by the United Kingdom, France, Russia, Italy, and the British colonies, but, at the same time, there was another striking increase in the value of the exports to Holland and Norway. The week's exports to Norway amounted to 2,514,767dols., compared with only 118,442dols. in the corresponding week of last year, and 223,377dols. in that of 1914, whilst the exports to Holland were 2,104,226 dollars' worth against 951,622dols. last year and 135,060dols. in 1914. There was also an increase of nearly 300,000dols. in the value of the week's exports to Denmark, compared with last year, but a decrease of over 800,000 dollars' worth in the exports to Sweden. That the figures of New York's exports afford a reliable index to the total exports of the United States is proved, says the National City Bank by the fact that over 53 per cent. of the large United States exports during the fiscal year 1916 passed out of the port of New York as against 43 per cent. in the fiscal year 1915.

City's Health in September.

The vital statistics published by the Municipal Health Department show that the general death-rate in the city during last month was slightly ahead of the rate in the corresponding month of last year. The total mortality stood at 2,132, as compared with 2,099 of September 1915. There were 34 deaths from plague and 5 from small-pox as compared with 28 and 16 deaths respectively in September last year. While there were absolutely no fatal cases of cholera last year, this year there were 23 deaths from it. The mortality from other principal diseases was as follows: Malaria 31, enteric 18, tuberculosis 149 and respiratory diseases 628. The total infant mortality of the month stood at 537, as against 658 registered in September 1915. The number of births (exclusive of still-births) was 1,891, as against 1,854 last year.

SUMMARY OF TELEGRAMS

U. S. AND NEW PIRACY.

A DELICATE SITUATION

VICTORIOUS ADVANCE IN MACEDONIA.

M. VENIZELOS ARRIVES AT SALONIKA

A delicate element in the new German-American situation is the fact that ships have been sunk close to the American coast because British cruisers have been withdrawn from trade lines adjacent to American waters in deference to urgent American representations that such patrolling was vexatious and discourteous.

Telegrams from New York describe the excitement as greater than at the outbreak of war.

South of the Somme the French carried the hamlet of Bovent, the outskirts of Ablancourt and most of the Chaulnes Wood and captured 1,250 prisoners. French airmen bombed the German magneto factory at Stuttgart, apparently with serious effects.

The British have occupied Kalendra, four miles west of Seres. This means that the Bulgars have abandoned the Demir Hissar-Seres Railway. A later telegram reports the capture of Toplova and Prosenik.

The Italian troops are now a few miles from Janina. They have occupied the whole of the Epirote coast opposite Corfu.

A Bukharest communiqué says there were minor infantry and artillery actions favourable to the Roumanians in the Cainen and Vulcan passes and fierce artillery duels east of Zimicea on the Danube. The Roumanians in Brasso district have retired to the northern ends of the Carpathians.

A Berlin official announcement claims the capture of Toerzburg in Transylvania and Austrian and German communiqués claim the capture of an island in the Danube above Sistovo.

An Athens message says Prof. Lambros has formed a colourless Cabinet which includes the pro-Gounarist M. Tselos as Minister of the Interior and M. Zalocastas, formerly Minister in Sofia as Minister for Foreign Affairs.

M. Venizelos has arrived at Salonika accompanied by M. Councouriotis, M. Danglis and several of his former Cabinet colleagues. His steamer was pursued by a German submarine, but in response to her calls for help allied destroyers arrived and enabled her to escape.

Political circles in Sofia expect a speedy intervention of Greece.

GERMAN-AMERICAN COMPLICATIONS.

ALLIES' VIGOROUS ADVANCE IN MACEDONIA.

U. S. AND NEW PIRACY

A DELICATE ELEMENT IN THE SITUATION.

RECENT AMERICAN DEMAND TO BRITISH WARSHIPS.

(REUTER'S SPECIAL WAR SERVICE.)

LONDON, Oct. 10.

A telegram from Washington says that a delicate element in the new German-American situation is the fact that ships have been sunk close to the American coast because British cruisers have been withdrawn from the trade lanes adjacent to American waters in deference to urgent American representations that such patrolling was vaxatious and discourteous.

"The Times" message from New York says that the U53 obtained at Newport a complete list of inward and outward steamers for and from New York. The destruction of the Stephano is particularly resented as her cargo was small, unimportant and not of a military nature. Her passengers, including fourteen babies, were driven into boats in the cold night and drifted for eight hours.

Another cable to "The Times" from New York says that when the submarine was firing on the Stephano, she found that two United States destroyers were impeding her aim. The German commander asked the destroyers kindly to clear out of the way and the destroyers acquiesced. Whereupon, the submarine torpedoed the Stephano.

GRAVITY OF THE ISSUE RAISED.

EXCITEMENT GREATER THAN AT OUTBREAK OF WAR.

(REUTER'S SPECIAL WAR SERVICE.)

LONDON, Oct. 10.

English newspapers dwell on the gravity and complexity of the fresh German-American issue raised by what "The Times" describes as tantamount to a pacific blockade of the American coast, "a form of coercion occasionally adopted in peace time to bring a wrong-doing State to reason."

While the papers are unanimous that the main issue lies between the United States and Germany, they point out that the havoc wrought by the U53 emphasises the importance of the recent Allied memorandum regarding the treatment of belligerent submarines in neutral waters.

Telegrams from New York describe the excitement as greater than at the outbreak of war.

An explosion is bound to follow if American lives are lost. But for the activity of American destroyers much greater hardship and possibly loss of life would have resulted.

MR. LANSING CONFERS WITH DR. WILSON.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

LONGBRANCH (Newjersey), Oct. 10.

Mr. Lansing has been conferring with President Wilson regarding submarining.

It is officially stated that there is no evidence that a German submarine base exists in American waters.

VICTORY OF "FRIGHTFULNESS" PARTY.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 10.

German newspapers state that the Committee discussions in the Reichstag have resulted in the victory of the "frightfulness" party.

LINERS PROCEEDING WELL OFF CUSTOMARY COURSES.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

NEWPORT, Oct. 10.

Wireless messages from the liners Cameronia and Frederick VIII show that they are proceeding to New York well off the custonary courses.

FREIGHTS RISING.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.)

LONDON, Oct. 10.

Reports from Lloyds and shipping circles in Liverpool and Glasgow show that they are in no way scared by the latest frightfulness in the Atlantic, though naturally freights are rising.

At a meeting of underwriters at Lloyds it was decided to increase by a hundred per cent. premiums between Europe and America.

MACEDONIAN OFFENSIVE.

BRITISH OCCUPY KALENDRA

BULGARIANS ABANDON DEMIR HISSAR RAILWAY.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

LONDON, Oct. 10.

A British official despatch from Salonika says:—We have occupied Kalendra, four miles west of Seres. We continue to bombard the enemy trenches on the Doiran front.

The occupation of Kalendra means that the Bulgarians have abandoned the Demir Hissar-Seres railway.

SERES MENACED BY ALLIES.

ADVANCE TOWARDS RUPEL PASS.

(REUTER'S SPECIAL WAR SERVICE.)

LONDON, Oct. 10.

The capture of the three villages mentioned in the British official despatch from Salonika on the 9th instant marks an important progress in the direction of the Rupel Pass, from which our nearest point is seven miles and we are within three miles of the Rupel-Seres railway.

More to south we menace Seres and are four miles east of the point where the Vardar enters Lake Tahinos.

TOPLOVA AND PROSENIK OCCUPIED.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

LONDON, Oct. 11.

A British official message from Salonika says: We occupied Toplova and Prosenik. Our mounted brigade drove back hostile cavalry two miles south of Seres.

SHARP FIGHTING ON THE CERNA.

MONASTIR AND PRILEP BOMBED.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

PARIS, Oct. 11.

A despatch from the Eastern Army says that offensive has successfully continued. There has been very sharp fighting between the Serbs and the Bulgars in the Cerna bend. 816 prisoners have been taken.

Our aeroplanes bombarded Monastir and Prilep.

ITALIAN ADVANCE IN EPIRUS

A FEW MILES FROM JANINA.

(REUTER'S SPECIAL WAR SERVICE.)

LONDON, Oct. 9.

The Italian troops are now a few miles from Janina. They have occupied the whole of the Epirote coast opposite Corfu.

NOT AN ALARMING SITUATION.

(REUTER'S SPECIAL WAR SERVICE.)

LONDON, Oct. 11.

The Secretary of the Liverpool Steamship Owners' Association, in an interview, said that the renewed German submarining was not alarming and was not really a promising development for Germany.

The fact that operations were not being conducted on both sides of the Atlantic showed an insufficiency of submarines.

He said that our loss by submarining during the whole war was only ten shillings for every hundred sterling of the cargo. We had imported nine hundred millions sterling worth of stuff during the year ending in July.

HUN SUBMARINES IN THE ARCTIC.

TWO AMERICAN STEAMERS AMONG VICTIMS.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM)

CHRISTIANIA, Oct. 10.

Five German submarines are operating in the Arctic. The victims include two American steamers.

VESSELS SUNK.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

LONDON, Oct. 10.

The British steamers Sidonia and Jupiter and the Norwegian steamer Resham have been sunk.

LAST WEEK'S ATTACKS.

ALL OBJECTIVES GAINED.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

ALLAHABAD, Oct. 11.

The "Pioneer's" correspondent cables:—London, 9th October.—The Germans are pretending that the latest Anglo-French attacks were of a very ambitious character and failed except at Le Sars and a few other points. The correspondents' messages make it clear that the attack, which was delivered in what one calls full winter conditions, attained all its objectives and that cheaply. It was of a preparatory nature intended to facilitate the next big move. Nevertheless, the taking of Le Sars was quite an important success. It brings the British on the Albert-Bapaume road within four miles of Bapaume. When Le Transloy is taken we shall be equally near on the Peronne-Bapaume road.

There are no signs of the enemy's conserving his gun ammunition to any great extent, but he is keeping his guns going by using an inferior quality of shells, many containing wood pieces which fly to bits and cause small hurts. In all conditions our artillery is dominant.

HIGH COURT.

APPELLATE SIDE.

FATAL SEQUEL TO VILLAGE FACTION.

CONVICTION OF TWO CONFIRMED, REST ACQUITTED.

RAMA BABAJI KOLI AND OTHERS v. THE KING-EMPEROR.

(Before Justices Batchelor and Shah.)

These were the appeals against the decision of Mr. G. K. Kale, Additional Sessions Judge of Satara, who agreeing with the assessors found the accused guilty under section 364 of the Indian Penal Code with abducting one Parbhya Mang out of British India in order that he may be murdered and sentenced some to suffer rigorous imprisonment for three years and some to suffer rigorous imprisonment for five years.

The facts of the case are briefly these:—Parbhya was an inhabitant of Bhadule in the Kolhapur State. There are two factions in the village; one was headed by Parbhu and Bala and the other was headed by Rama Koli. A feeling of bitter hatred arose between the members of the rival factions, especially on account of women and serious injuries were caused by the members of one faction to the members of the other and several criminal complaints were lodged in the courts of the Kolhapur State. Accused No. 7 Harni, is a Mang widow and was mistress of one Joti Mang for five or six years. Parbhya afterwards kept Harni as a mistress for one year. During that interval Joti began to frequent the house of Harni and Parbhya became jealous and beat Harni. Thereupon she lodged a complaint against Parbhya under section 323 of the Indian Penal Code in the Magistrate's Court at Malwa. Joti joined the faction of Rama Koli. Rama's leg was cut off by Parbhya and his people and Rama was made a cripple for life. He was brooding for revenge. Harni's complaint was fixed for hearing on the 13th April, 1915.

STORY OF DECOYING.

Rama's party took Harni into confidence and settled that she should accompany Parbhya under the pretext of compounding the complaint and decoy him to a field Sarf Mala within British limits. Accordingly Harni took Parbhaya to Sarf Mala within British limits. Accordingly Harni took Parbhaya to Sarf Mala on the night of 12th April, and at about midnight some 15 persons including the eight accused pounced upon Parbhya and abducted him to a field in village Kini in the Kolhapur State. There Parbhya was murdered. As the offence of abduction under section 364, Indian Penal Code, was committed in British India the accused were tried in the Sessions Court at Satara for the same.

The additional Sessions Judge said that the prosecution case depended entirely on the evidence of Pandu Bacharam, Surappa and Pandu Gurai; and remarked that he saw no reason to disbelieve them as they belonged to neither faction. He also relied on Taya's confession and convicted them all.

It was argued that the evidence of the alleged plot was not forthcoming before the police officers who made the investigation. The names of the witnesses also did not then transpire. The inherent improbabilities in their evidence proved it as not worthy of credence.

JUDGMENT

Their Lordships confirmed the convictions of Taya and Harni, accused Nos. 6 and 7, and acquitted the other six.

Justice Batchelor in the course of the judgment, observed that the case was one of some complexity and their Lordships were much obliged to Mr. D. C. Virkar who assisted as amicus curiæ by laying before them all the material evidence and analysing it in a very thorough manner. The result of that analysis was to satisfy their Lordships that the convictions of the six accused were not sustainable. The evidence upon which the convictions rested, was that of the four witnesses who according to them had intimate knowledge of the circumstances of the crime but who did not inform the investigating officer for a number of months. There was nothing on the record to show how the investigating officer so late as that got the names of these witnesses. The story narrated by them could not be believed and was highly suspicious.

Mr. D. C. Virkar, amicus curiæ for all the appellants.

The Government Pleader appeared for the Crown.

ORIGINAL SIDE.

SUIT FOR BREACH OF PROMISE OF MARRIAGE.

CLAIM FOR DAMAGE FAILS.

(Before Justice Kemp.)

ABDUL RAZAK BIN ABDUL GAFFOOR.....Plaintiff.

v.

MAHOMED HOOSEIN DELVI.....Defendant.

This was a suit for damages filed by the plaintiff against the defendant for breach by the defendant of his contract to give his daughter to the plaintiff in marriage and for return of the ornaments, clothes, etc., presented by the plaintiff to the defendant's daughter in anticipation of the marriage and for other relief.

The facts of the case appear in his Lordship's judgment.

Mr. D. F. Mulla with Mr. J. B. Kanga appeared for the plaintiff.

Mr. H. S. Captain with Mr. J. D. Davar appeared for the defendant.

His Lordship said:—

The parties admit that a betrothal ceremony took place in July 1915, but they are at variance on the terms arranged between them before the ceremony.

The plaintiff says that he undertook to settle certain immoveable property for the benefit of the girl upon certain trusts and to execute a formal deed of settlement on the date of the marriage, whilst the defendant's version of the arrangement is that the plaintiff was to make an absolute gift of his Mahim property to the girl. The plaintiff also states that on disputes arising in consequence an agreement was arrived at subsequent to the betrothal ceremony by which the plaintiff executed a promissary note for Rs. 2,700 in favour of a third party who was attempting to bring about a settlement on the understanding that the note should be returned to him on his purchasing within six months from the date of the marriage immoveable property in the name of the defendant's daughter. The defendant replies that he did not agree to this proposal.

ITS LEGAL ASPECT.

The first issue raised is whether a suit for breach of promise of marriage will be under Mahomedan law. If by this it is meant that in a suit for breach by the father of the girl of his promise to give the girl in marriage the plaintiff can not recover the damages peculiar to an action for breach of promise of marriage under the English law. I entirely agree with the proposition. The contract in respect of which by the English law a plaintiff may recover such damages for breach of a promise to marry is one which, in my opinion, arises from personal status. No authority from the Mahomedan Law has been cited to me to justify the allowance of such damages in case where the parties are Mahomedans. In an action for breach of promise of marriage in English law no attempt at fixing any measure of damages can be made. Such actions stand on a par with actions for libel as to the range of topics in which counsel are allowed to indulge. (Mayne on Damages 6th edition p. 502.) As was stated by Bowen L. J. in Finlay v. Chirney (1888) 20 Q. B. D. 502, "the action for breach of promise of marriage is one which is based on the hypothesis of a broken contract, yet is attended with some of the special consequences of a personal wrong and in which damages may be given of a vindictive and uncertain kind, not merely to repay the plaintiff for the temporall loss, but to punish the defendant in an exemplary manner." I see no reason to introduce this anomaly to Mahomedans whose views of the relationship of the married parties to one another and of the negotiations for bringing about a marriage are so different to those of persons governed by the English law. When, however, I say that the principle on which damages which are allowed by the English law as peculiar to the breach of a contract to marry should not be applied to the case of the breach of a promise for valuable consideration made by the father of a Mahomedan girl to give her in marriage. I am not to be taken as saying that the ordinary results which flow under secion 73 of the Contract Act from the breach of a contract should not follow in this case as well as in the case of any other contract. Under that section the promise is, on breach by the promisor of his contract, entitled to receive from him compensation for any loss or damage caused to the promisee by such breach, or, which, the parties knew when they made the contract, to be likely to result from the breach of it. Moreover, under section 65 of the Contract Act the promisee is entitled to the return of his consideration or compensation in respect of it as on a failure of consideration. These are principles which are applicable to every contract and have nothing to do with personal status.

Indeed the right to the return of money, clothes, ornaments, etc., on a failure to perform the marriage is one which is recognised by Mahomedan Law. (Macnaghten's Principles and Precedents of Mahomedan Law ch. VI p. 250). Nor do I see why, as the ornaments and clothes were sent to the house of the defendant he is not the proper party to be sued for their return. No point, however has been made by the defendant of this.

Only so far, therefore as the plaintiff in this case claims a lump sum of Rs. 2,000as damages for breach by the defendant of his contract with the plaintiff do I hold that he is not entitled to succeed. The suit must proceed with regard to the other relief prayed for.

The hearing of the suit on other points was adjourned to 3rd November.

ALLEGED CRIMINAL BREACH OF TRUST BY A CASHIER.

ACCUSED DISCHARGED

The Chief Presidency Magistrate disposed of a case, at the Esplanade Police Court, in which Andrew Isaac, a cashier in the employ of the Bombay Electric Company was charged by Inspector Fuller with criminal breach of trust in respect of two sums of money Rs. 280 and Rs. 192 belonging to his master Mr. A. L. Crawford.

Mr. B. J. Dhondi, pleader represented the accused.

The prosecution stated that the accused appropriated to himself instead of crediting to the Company a sum of Rs. 200 he realised from V. P.'s sent to the complainant's upcountry constituents. The accused likewise misappropriated another sum of Rs. 196 which was given to him by the office peon Audoji Krishna, who had recovered the amount from the Company's constituents.

The defence story was that the accused had realised not merely Rs. 200 but Rs. 825 which amount had been paid by him to the Manager of the firm Mr. Voller who said that he wanted the money for the payment of commissions and making some purchases for the company. Further Mr. Voller had initialled the V. P. book which showed that he had received the amounts.

Regarding the second amount of Rs. 192 said to have been paid by the office peon the accused stated that it was never paid at all. Whenever any sums were paid by the peon the accused passed his initials in the peons' book.

The Magistrate did not think that he would be justified in putting the accused on his defence with the evidence before the Court. He was satisfied from the accused's statement and Mr. Voller's cross-examination that the monies had been received by the latter.

He could not believe the peon since in spite of his statement that the book had been initialled no such thing was visible on its production. He therefore discharged the accused.

Another case in which the present accused and the manager had been jointly charged was transferred to the Third Presidency Magistrate's Court on account of the conclusions arrived at by the present Magistrate in the first case.

DISOBEYING ORDERS OF THE DOCK-MASTER.

TINDALS FINED RS. 12 EACH

Before the same Magistrate Govind Laxman, tindal of a barque and Shaik Agar Shaik Adam, tindal of a prow were charged with disobeying the orders of the Dock Master of the Victoria Docks on the 29th September and thus delaying the "Rostock" a prize steamship by breaking her ropes which resulted in her dropping the anchor to avoid a serious accident. The Magistrate fined each of the tindals Rs. 12.

THEFT BY AN OLD OFFENDER.

GETS FOUR MONTHS' HARD LABOUR.

Before the Third Presidency Magistrate at the Esplanade Police Court Babaji Krishna was charged by Sub-Inspector Achreker with the theft of a silver watch etc., valued at Rs. 41 belonging to Shaik Ramjan Shaik Manowar, a naik in the Third Sappers and Miners. The accused stole the goods from the room when the Naik was out. As the the accused had three previous convictions, he was sentenced to four months' rigorous imprisonment.

ALLEGED OUTRAGING OF MODESTY.

At the Mazagon Police Court before the Second Presidency Magistrate Shiba Gopal, a butler, was charged at the instance of Inspector Spiers, with outraging the modesty of Leena Grant, aged 12.

After the examination of Mr. and Mrs. Atkinson and Miss Leena Grant, the further hearing was adjourned.

ALLEGED ABDUCTION OF A PERSIAN GIRL.

FURTHER PROSECUTION EVIDENCE.

Before the Second Presidency Magistrate at Mazagaon, Sergeant Chamarette charged Tar Mahomed Nur Mahomed with kidnapping Bibi Nazini, aged 14, the wife of an Arab merchant, Haji Mehdi.

Mr. S. G. Velinker instructed by Mr. Mirza Ali Mahomed, appeared for the prosecution, while the accused was defended by Mr. Patell, Mr. C. N. Kanuga and Mr. K. F. Nariman.

Sayad Ali Sayad Abdul Karim, a Mogal priest, examined by Mr. Velinger deposed that he married Nazini to Haji Mehdi according to the rites and ceremonies of Mogals.

Inspector W. J. Corby, examined by Mr Vilenker, said he was in charge of the Cantonment Division in Poona. He received a letter signed by Superintendent Morris for the arrest of Tar Mahomed, who had already been proclaimed an absconding offender in the "Police Gazette." The witness arrested the accused in Fourth Lane, Kamatipura, Poona. He went there accompanied by a "panch." He knocked at the door and called out the name Tar Mahomed and Haji Mehdi and a constable of the Bombay City Police identified the accused. There was a bed in the room and when he made a search he discovered a girl under the cot, and she seemed to be in hiding. She came out of the concealment of her own free will. The witness made a "panchanama" and sent her to Lady Alishah's house. First of all the girl said she was not willing to go to her husband and he therefore sent her to Lady Alishah. The accused was placed on the following day before the Special Cantonment Magistrate and was ordered to be removed to Bombay.

Bachu Jusab, owner of the house in Poona, examined by Mr. Velinker said the house in Poona belonged to his grandfather, and the witness looked after it. He knew Tar Mahomed, who had rented a room there. The accused stayed there for about 40 day's before he was arrested. On the night of the arrest he saw the girl in the courtyard.

Hussain Mahomed, a Persian tailor in Bapty Road, said he was sent to Poona by the complainant to search for his wife. He went to Kamatipura, Fourth Lane, and the accused was arrested two days after he had gone there. He saw the accused and a woman through a chink in the wall and witness kept a watch over the house; a wire was sent to Haji Mehdi and he came there. When the Police Inspector got the room opened there were the accused and Nazini hiding under a cot.

The case was adjourned to Wednesday, the 18th October at 1-30 p.m.

ILLNESS OF MUNICIPAL COMMISSIONER.

APPLICATION FOR LEAVE.

A meeting of the Standing Committee of the Bombay Municipal Corporation was held yesterday, the Hon. Mr. S. C. Barodawala presiding.

The Chairman said he was sorry to say that owing to illness Mr. Edwardes, the Commissioner, was obliged to apply for leave. Mr. Edwardes would of course have put off the application but for the doctors' advice to proceed to England at once. He (the speaker) was sure that the news of Mr. Edwardes' illness would be received with regret by the whole city. As an able, sympathetic, kind-hearted and courteous officer he had won the hearts of the people of Bombay and it was very sad that so soon after his appointment as Municipal Commissioner the state of his health should compel him to apply for leave. This was not the occasion to pass any verdict on the valuable services rendered by Mr. Edwardes during the short term as Municipal Commissioner, but he (the speaker) could not help saying that they would miss his valued assistance and co-operation. He hoped Mr. Edwardes would soon be restored to health and resume his office with fresh vigour and energy and further distinguish himself in the service of the city which he had served so well.

Sir Sassoon J. David moved that "the Standing Committee assent to leave being granted to Mr. Edwardes up to a period of one year by H. E. the Governor-in-Council and that Mr. Edwardes be informed that the Committee have received with great regret the news of his illness but that they hope he will soon be able to resume his office with renewed health and vigour and still further distinguish himself in the service of this city which he has already served so well with conspicuous ability and devotion."

Sir Sassoon said they all hoped Mr. Edwardes would return to his office with renewed health and vigour.

Dr. N. H. E. Sukhia said Mr. Edwardes had proved himself one of the ablest Commissioners.

Mr. H. P. Modi expressed the hope that Mr. Edwardes would return with renewed health. They all regretted the cause which obliged him to ask for leave. He had discharged his duties as Municipal Commissioner with conspicuous devotion and energy.

Mr. V. A. Dabholkar, Dr. S. Batliwala and Mr. Mirza, M. A. Khan agreed with the previous speakers.

The motion was carried.

MR. BONAR LAW ON WAR.

DOMINIONS AND IMPERIAL POLICY.

PLEA FOR CLOSER UNION.

(By yesterday's Mail.)

Mr. Bonar Law, speaking at a luncheon given by the West Indian Club to Sir Edward Morris, Premier of Newfoundland on September 13, paid a tribute to the way in which Newfoundland had helped the Empire, and said he believed that more men from Newfoundland were serving in the British navy than from any other colony.

Mr. Bonar Law continued:—The war, I think, is going well. We began—the whole of the Allies began—badly, and no wonder. The war came because our enemy meant it to come and was prepared for it. We were not prepared; we were quite unready for it. It has taken a long time to utilise and bring to striking point the resources of the Allies, but they are being used now.

It is not an accident that the position has so changed in the last three or four months. You remember how anxious we all were in the early part of this spring. That anxiety has gone, and it has gone for this reason beyond all others—that the Allies are working together as a unit and fighting on every front and making it impossible for the enemy to make use of their best asset—their power to shift troops from one point to another.

That is not all. We were short of munitions. There is no shortage now. (Applause). And one of the best signs in a small way of what the issue of the war is going to be is the whining in some German papers about the cruelties of the British troops who are exterminating their German enemies by artillery. (Laughter.) I do not profess to see the end of the war. There may be a long struggle in front of us. I do not say in what way it is to end, but of this I am sure of the ultimate end there is no doubt, and what we realise I am sure we should find, if we could get into the counsels of the German Staff, is realised by them as well as us.

The end is not in sight but it is coming, and when the war ends—I wonder if you have begun to realise, as I realise, what the problems will be that will confront us then? In my belief the problem of reconstruction after the war will be a more difficult task, will try more severely the character of the people and the capacity of the Government, than even the task we have had in winning the war.

EMIGRATION AFTER THE WAR.

I am not going to speak of all the problems at home, though I have thought of them, but there are two to which I will refer. One, not the most important, is the question of emigration. It is not an easy problem. After the war, with the loss of the most virile of our manhood, it will be the duty of this country to keep at home as many as we can keep, because, after all, the strength of the centre of the Empire is necessary if the Empire is to survive. But we must give to the men who are fighting our battles the best chances and the widest outlook available for them. There will be emigration, and the Government will be much to blame if two things are not made certain. One is that whatever emigration does take place shall be within the British Empire—(cheers),—and so not lessen the strength of the Empire as a whole. The other thing is that whatever emigration there is to be shall take place under the best conditions for the men who have fought our battles. (Applause.)

Mr. Bonar Law declared that the great Dominions were now in effect independent States. We could not compel them to send a single man or contribute a penny. They had sent of their best because they knew that it was their war as well as ours, and they were fighting, not for the United Kingdom, but for the Empire.

CLOSER UNION WITH THE DOMINIONS.

"These conditions can never occur again. Indeed it required, and does require, great goodwill and the greatest common sense on the part of the Dominions and the authorities at home to enable the arrangement to work. It is not a possible arrangement that one set of men should contribute the lives and treasure of their people and should have no voice in the way in which those lives and that treasure are expended. That cannot continue. There must be a change. The war has done more than many generations could have done in welding the Empire together.

"We feel sure that we are at one, and it rests chiefly with the men in the colonies and dominions—for I am sure all of us at home are ready to accept any system of closer union which the dominions desire effected—to find some method by which in the future the unity which has characterised us in the war will be found to be as durable when peace comes."

Sir Edward Morris, in responding to the toast of his health, expressed the hope that a wider scope of opportunity might be given to the trade and commerce of the West Indian Islands. Whatever else we disagree upon (he said), we all admit that the present war is the greatest blunder of history. The responsibility must rest on the shoulders of those who in the past made blunders that created the present position, and, in my judgment, the most important item in leading up to the present position is that we stood aside in 1870 and allowed Germany to pound France to death. That was what led to the establishment of the German Empire.

BAKRID DAY DISTURBANCES.

POLICE FIRE ON MOB.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

BANKIPORE, Oct. 11.

News has reached here from two villages in the Patna District of serious disturbances on Bakrid day with the result that the police had to open fire, though with very slight casualties, keeping the situation at present well in hand.

One such disturbance is reported from the village of Kanchanpore where the Hindus had succeeded last year in preventing "Kurbani." This year Mr. W. Swain, Superintendent of Police, took exceptionally precautionary measures and stationed sufficient forces in the villages he apprehended trouble. In Kanchanpore after the "Kurbani" the Hindus made deliberate attempts on the police who would have been overpowered as Hindus numbering about 4,000 took advantage of the place being full of water owing to the recent rains. Inspector Knight who was in charge showed great restraint and in the end a few shots were fired, resulting in about a couple of casualties.

In the village of Jadupore the situation was equally serious and there was some trouble before the "Kurbani." The danger was so serious that the Magistrate was all day on the spot and fire was opened as a last resort against the threatening crowd numbering about 10,000.

The situation in both villages is now well in hand.

Mr. Sorrufally Mamoojee, a well-known Borha citizen of Bombay, has invited Professor Sayed Hussain Atshi, the renowned Fire-Walker, to give an exhibition of his marvellous power over fire on a trench of about 20ft. long 5ft. broad and 2ft. deep which will be filled up with wood and set fire to, and through the flames of which the professor will make people walk without injury to person or garments. These performances will be in aid of the War Relief Fund for four nights.

This exhibition has been witnessed by the King-Emperor and Queen-Empress and suite at the last Delhi Durbar; by Lord and Lady Curzon at the Coronation Durbar of 1902, the principal Indian Rulers and Chiefs of States, and by Lord Sydenham, and other high Officials. At the last Paris Exhibition no less than 300,000 people witnessed Prof. Saved Hussain's marvellous power over fire. The performance will take place on a plot of ground near the Chowpaty Band-stand.

RIGHT COM/ "IMPORTANT TO TO THE FUL.

A JUDGE'S DICTUM.

(By Yesterday's Mail.)

A rule nisi calling upon Mr. Ernest Parke, editor of the "Star," to show cause why he should not be committed to prison for alleged contempt of Court was refused by Mr Justice Atkin on September 20, in the Vacation Court.

Mr. Hawke, K. C., moved for the rule, ex parte, alleging that it was warranted by certain articles in the "Star" bearing on the matter of the Army and Navy Co-operative Society, Limited—trustees of a Provident Fund—and Mrs. Joyce, the widow of the late William Thomas Joyce, late of the Coldstream Guards, who was killed in action at Loos.

Mr. Hawke said the facts were that the stores had a provident fund that was administered by trustees, and it had to be administered strictly in accordance with the terms of the deed, which was dated July, 1880. Under the deed certain property, obtained by employees of the society, was vested in the trustees, and all the subscribers were entitled, under the rules, to benefits. If an employee died, his nominee could get nine months' pay, but there was no benefit to be given if the member had left the service of the society, although the trustees had a discretion, if they wished, to return the contributions paid.

KILLED IN BATTLE.

After the outbreak of war Joyce left the society and enlisted. He was killed in the battle of Loos. The question then arose whether the trustees of the Provident Society could pay to his widow £50, to which she would have been entitled if Joyce had been in the society's employment. On the advice of counsel, the trustees took the view that Joyce had left the stores and the benefits were not payable.

The widow, dissatisfied, brought a county court action before Judge Woodfall, who upheld the view of the trustees that the benefit was not payable under the deed.

Thereupon, said Mr. Hawke, the "Star" newspaper began a series of attacks on the trustees, suggesting in effect that they were robbing the widow of benefits to which she was entitled, and they were stigmatised as unpatriotic. An appeal had been launched to a divisional court by the widow for the judgment to be reversed, or a new trial to be ordered, and the trustees felt that until the matter had been finally decided by the Court they were entitled to be held free from attack.

COMMENT AND A PHOTO.

Counsel proceeded to call attention to certain articles that were complained of, and said the "Star" had also published references to the pending appeal, the grounds of which were that the judge had wrongly held that Joyce was not in the employment of the society. The "Star" had also published a photo of the widow and her four children, and it was suggested that the widow had been refused the aid of the society. Counsel urged that the articles were calculated to influence the minds of people who might be called on the jury if another trial was ordered.

Counsel added that the suggestion made was that the trustees had robbed the widow of the money paid into the fund, and, upon the stores refunding the money paid in, namely, £7 11s., this was referred to as a "miserable solatium."

Mr. Justice Atkin remarked that he did not quite see how these comments could be supposed to constitute an interference with the administration of justice. It was necessary that Mr. Hawke should establish substantial ground for supposing that there would be such interference. He felt the gravest difficulty in finding that there was such ground.

Mr. Hawke said that the suggestion was that because the man went to fight for his country he had been robbed. That was far from the question of whether the judge at the county court came to a correct decision. He submitted that the editor let his feelings run away with his judgment, and had made an attack on the trustees, who could only distribute the money according to the powers given under the deed.

THE JUDGMENT.

Mr. Justice Atkin, giving judgment refusing the application, said that there was the suggestion in the articles that the action of the trustees had not been patriotic, and that the claim of the widow should not have been resisted. It might be that some comments that had been made were ill-founded, and it was clear that the trustees would be bound by their legal obligations. If comments had been made that were defamatory, the trustees had their remedy against the editor for alleged defamatory libel, but that was not the action contemplated here.

It was sought to invoke the powers of the Court to protect the administration of justice [illegible] was plain that the Court could not interfere in a case of this kind unless it was satisfied that there was good cause. It seemed to him in the circumstances of this case there was no real danger of the due administration of justice being interfered with.

It was said that the comments might affect the minds of a possible jury, but this was an extremely contingent event, and nobody knew if there would be a new trial or a jury. He did not think he ought to encourage an application to the Court for the exercise of powers that it was very ready to use if it was shown that there was a serious chance of justice being interfered with, but would be slow to exercise unless that state of things arose.

It was very important to maintain to the full the right of public comment on matters taking place in the Courts of Justice in the country and on matters of public interest. Therefore, he thought the rule should be refused.

SHARE MARKET WEEKLY CIRCULAR.

(Issued every Wednesday.)

During the whole of the last week a tendency of general depression prevailed in the market owing to the weak holders becoming anxious to dispose of their goods. This has placed the bazaar somewhat in a state of confusion. Among those that so declined were Currimbhoys, Bleachings, Indore Malwas, Madhowjis, Crecents, Fazulbhoys, Katins, and a few others. Though three weeks have passed, allotments are not made as yet in Shapurjis. These were quoted in the beginning at Rs. 55 premium but were placed during the last week at Rs. 6 premium. In some of the shares there was expected a very substantial rise in the Market. But as stated above, weak holders have spoiled the market and they are likely to spoil it still further. Many bona fide holders are however not willing to part with their goods in the present market, on what score we do not know. As the bazaar closed yesterday there was a little revival but it would be advisable not to be misguided by this, for it seems that the wave of teji has disappeared, though untimely, and is not likely to reappear till January-February, 1917.

SUN MILLS, LTD.

Instant Relief for Sick Headache

Nausea and Heartburn

You cannot have sick headache when your liver is right. Dr. Cassell's Instant Relief sets it right, and that is why it cures sick headache and other bilious troubles so quickly, so surely, so thoroughly. Unlike so many preparations it is not violent, and you don't need to keep on taking it. It just helps your liver to regain its power, and thus natural action and natural cure follow at once.

"Science Siftings," a prominent English scientific journal, says (April 11, 1910):—"Providence has given us the brains to devise means to compensate Nature for our ill-treatment of her. . . . The means at hand come from natural sources, and we have them embodied in such splendid combinations as Dr. Cassell's Instant Relief."

Take Dr. Cassell's Instant Relief for constipation, biliousness, torpid liver, sick headache, dizziness, specks before the eyes, flatulence and windy spasms, acidity, heartburn, impure blood, and that dull, heavy feeling which is a sure indication of liver troubles.

Prices: As. 14 and Rs. 2-2, from all Chemists and Bazaars, or direct from the sole agents for India, J. Murray and Co., Ltd., P.O. Box 303, Bombay.

Dr. Cassell's Instant Relief is the companion to Dr. Cassell's Tablets. Absolute purity is guaranteed.

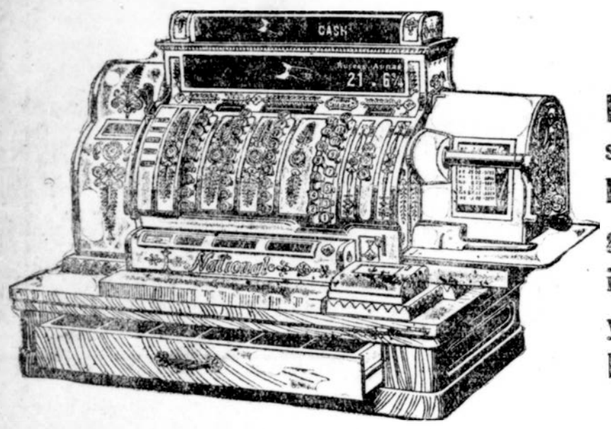
SMALL LOSSES MORE DANGEROUS THAN LARGE ONES.

Small losses are more dangerous than the large ones. They are usually the unsuspected ones. They occur almost daily.

Large losses occur but once. The experience of one large loss opens your eyes and puts you on your guard.

It is the small leaks that sink the large vessels. In the same manner, it is the small losses that wreck the large business.



Get a NATIONAL CASH REGISTER as soon as possible. It will prevent your losses and increase your gain. When you have used it, you will wonder how you ever managed to do business without one.
